What is the 1906 Antiquities Act?

- Allows the president to designate unilaterally by an EXECUTIVE ORDER (President)
- Can be done with LITTLE citizen or state involvement
- Used to PROTECT historic artifacts and sites
- Must be CONFINED to the “smallest area” necessary

Congressional Action

- National Monuments can also be designated through public law as a result of CONGRESSSIONAL ACTION
- Requires PUBLIC COMMENT and INVOLVEMENT
- Requires NEPA COMPLIANCE
- Specifies USES and includes BETTER DIRECTION

Designation under 1906 Antiquities Act

- President designates unilaterally by public proclamation
- Disenfranchises local and state stakeholders
- Does not value local input to the process
- Ignores state officials' and agencies' input
- Undermines public support for existing management
- Ignores future mandated NEPA & Section 7 Analysis

UNDERMINES EXTENSIVE ONGOING WORK AND PRIOR COLABERATION BETWEEN LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS AND FEDERAL AGENCIES

1906 Antiquities Act – Section 2

The President of the United States is authorized, in his discretion, to declare by public proclamation historic landmarks, historic and prehistoric structures, and other objects of historic or scientific interest that are situated upon the lands owned or controlled by the Government of the United States to be National Monuments, and may reserve as a part thereof parcels of land, the limits of which in all cases shall be confined to the SMALLEST area compatible with proper care and management of the objects to be protected.

When such objects are situated upon a tract covered by a bona fide unperfected claim or held in private ownership, the tract, or so much thereof as may be necessary for the proper care and management of the object, may be relinquished to the Government, and the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to accept the relinquishment of such tracts in [sic] behalf of the Government of the United States.

Legal Implications

- Federal Government's ability to reach beyond the confines of public land and regulate activity on adjacent state and private lands has startled many states, particularly in the West, where federal lands are extensive. More specifically, this doctrine is known as "the inholder's rule" as defined by the U.S. Supreme Court.
- Private and state lands subject to regulations under statutes pursuant to the extra-territorial application of the Property Clause must be within the perimeter area of a designated conservation unit or ENTIRELY SURROUNDED by federal lands.
- The application of the PROPERTY CLAUSE (proven by case law), CAN APPLY to all levels of government controlled land, but has never been exercised in regards to a NATIONAL FOREST or NATIONAL MONUMENT to date.

Consequences

- Decreased Recreational Opportunities
 - Camping, Shooting, Hunting, Riding, OHV use and Travel
- Retired Grazing Leases
 - Ranchers out of business; Local businesses shuttered
- Restricted Forest Management
 - Will harm 4FRI and prevent active forest management
- Seized Water Rights and Contaminated Watersheds
 - Prevent the use of groundwater and surface water rights
 - Lack of forest management causes wildfires, harms watersheds

Consequences Cont.

- Restricted Property Rights
 - Property bordering national monument
 - Property Clause limits personal property rights
 - 28,000 acres private land and 64,000 acres state trust land
- Restricted Economic Opportunities and Jobs Losses
 - Will close at least 3 businesses, prevent mining, commercial development, timber production, and other activities
- Degraded local quality of life
- Lost business revenue and jobs
- Limited utility company access
- Loss of local and state revenue

Consequences Cont.

NATIONAL MONUMENTS and NATIONAL PARKS

AUTOMATICALLY

Given a High Alert Status by the Department of Homeland Security

Question: What Law Enforcement Agency is in charge: City Police, County Sheriff or DHS?

Question: What federal agency is in charge: Park Service, BLM or Forest Service?

Answer: No One Knows!

The Rules Are Different

National Forest Service Rules are OPEN

National Monument Rules are RESTRICTIVE

More Government Regulations = Less Personal Freedoms

RESTRICTIONS

LEAST (1) TO MOST (5)

1. National Forest
2. National Monument
3. National Scenic Area
4. National Park
5. Wilderness Area

30% of NATIONAL MONUMENTS have been converted to NATIONAL PARKS

The Process is Broken After Years of Abuse

- The Antiquities Act gives a President unilateral authority to designate a national monument (no vote of the people).
- A preliminary Resource Management Plan (“RMP”), submitted with the national monument proclamation, is SUBJECT TO CHANGE AFTER the proclamation is signed (Washington DC “Black Box”). Changes to the RMP are based on the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and other required studies (4+ years) which establish land use rules and protocols

Neighboring State National Monument Designations With LITTLE to NO Public Input

Castle Mountains, Mojave Trails, Sand to Snow (CA)

1,800,000 acres in January, 2016

Berryessa-Snow Mountain (CA)

360,000 acres in July, 2015

Basin and Range (NV)

700,000 Acres in July, 2015

San Gabriel Mountains (CA)

350,000 acres in October, 2014

Organ Mountains Desert Peaks (NM)

500,000 acres in May, 2014

Grand Staircase – Escalante (UT)

1,900,000 acres in September, 1996

Grand Staircase – Escalante (UT)

Established under the Antiquities Act of 1906

- Designated unilaterally by President Clinton
- No support by local stakeholders, governor or elected officials
- Announced with 24 hours advance notice to the governor
- Encompassed 1,900,000 acres

Unintended Consequences

- Managed by Bureau of Land Management
- Promised “no changes to management guidelines”
- Restricted property access for road repair, fence maintenance, etc.
- Degraded businesses, livestock grazing, and local quality of life
- Shuttered businesses and depopulation (150 -> 50 elementary students)
- Residents concluded “officials have deliberately misled the public “

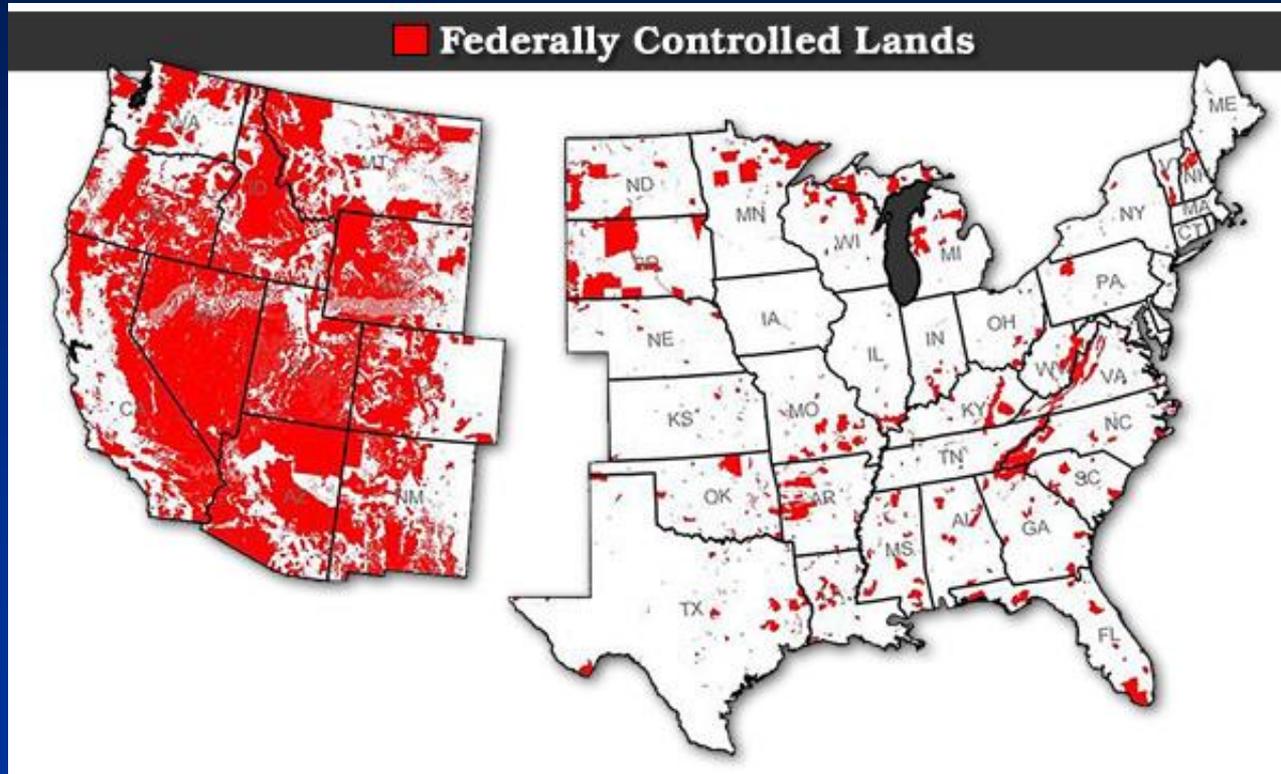

Wyoming and Alaska

- A 1950 law passed by Congress prohibits designation of a national monument in the state of Wyoming under the Antiquities Act and requires Congressional approval for any new monuments.
- Another statutory requirement implemented by Congress limits designations in Alaska under the Antiquities Act to 5,000 acres or less.

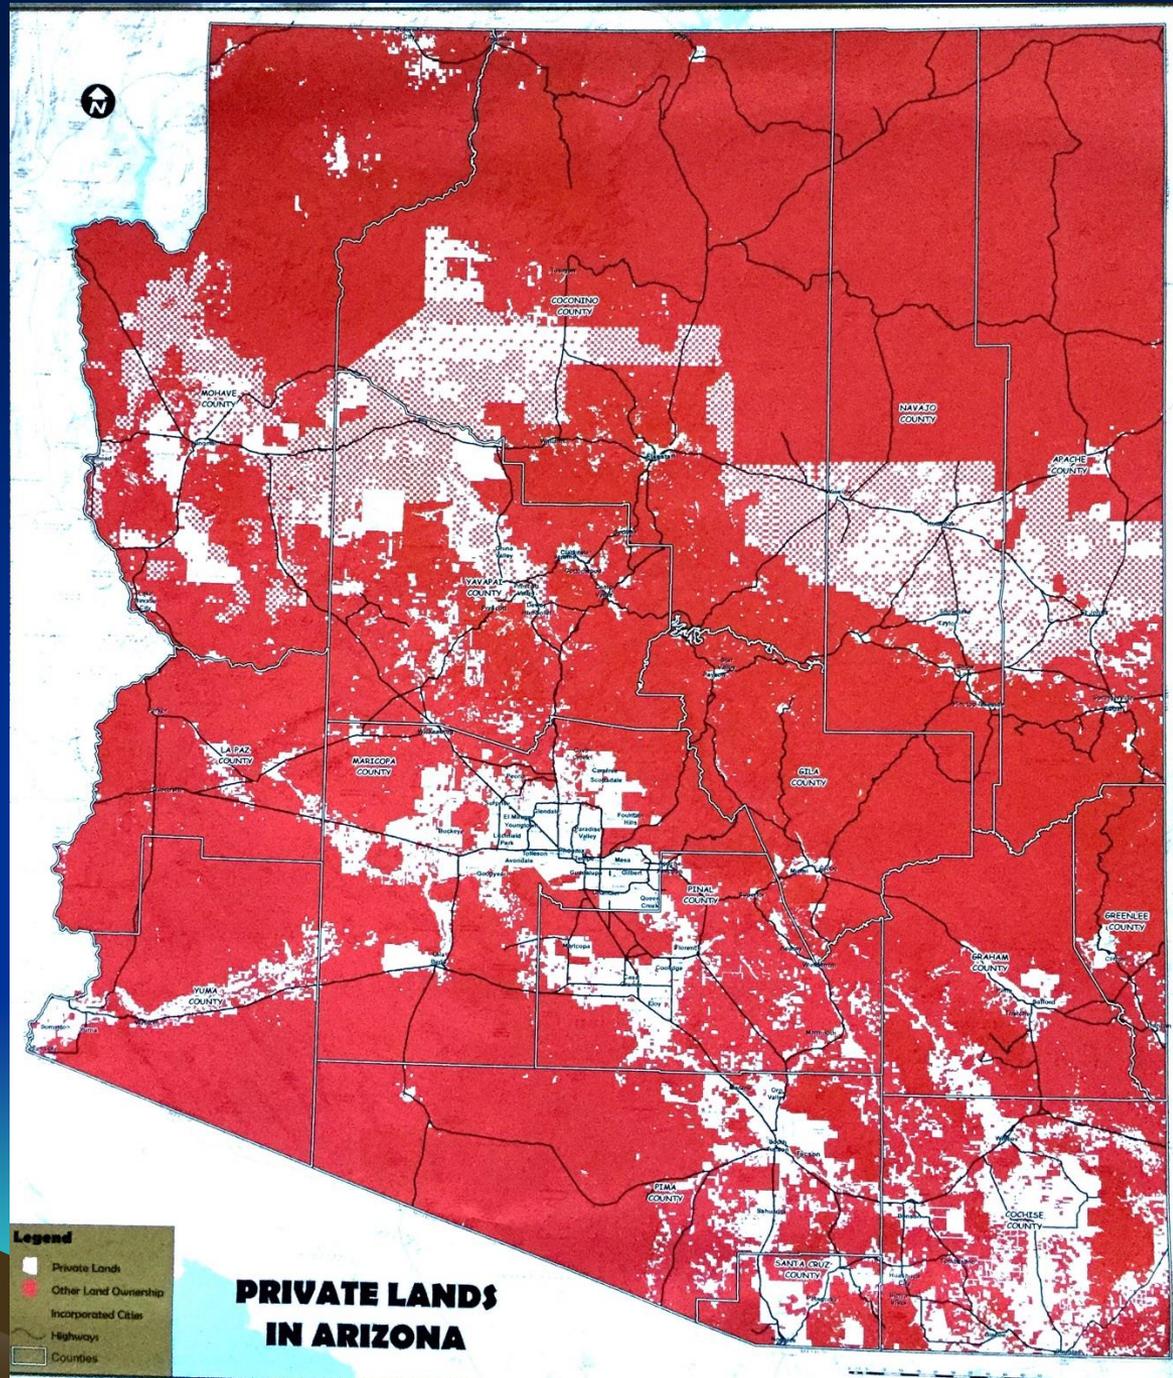

Federal Land Concentration

Federal land ownership is concentrated in the West. Specifically, nearly 50% of the total amount of land in 11 western states is federal land.

RED = Government
Federal + Some State
WHITE = Private

PRIVATE LANDS IN ARIZONA

Reservations
 National Park
 National Forest/
 Wilderness Areas
 BLM
 Private
 State Trust
 Military

State Trust Lands

TODAY, Arizona manages STATE TRUST LANDS for the benefit of our educational system. Selling any parcel over 200 acres is DIFFICULT and is counter-productive to having an asset generating recurring revenue.

The State's ability to manage additional land for recreation, safety, wildlife, culture, heritage and REVENUE is CRITICAL for the financial security and well being of our Arizona residents.

MOST Presidents ABUSE the Antiquities Act, typically in their last year in office

With THREE NEW designations already in 2016, President Obama has established or expanded 22 national monuments totaling more than 3 million acres using the Antiquities Act of 1906. The White House also boasts on its website that it has locked up more 260 million acres of public lands and waters, more than any previous administration.

President Obama has now bested Presidents Roosevelt, Carter, Clinton and Franklin Delano Roosevelt in the amount of land locked up under the Antiquities Act

President Obama is likely preparing to do even more before he leaves office next year. The result will be one of the most expansive abuses of executive power in presidential history without a vote of the people.

The Federal Government does not provide adequate funding for new national monument designations

The Future

- What gives the Federal Government the right to take away freedoms that we enjoy today from future residents of Arizona?
 - The balance between our land, our people, and our state in 2030, 2050, 2070 and beyond MUST NOT be “locked” up by bureaucrats 2000 miles away.
 - The STATES were created because the STATES know better than the FEDS what works best in our own back yards.
- Good for the public? Or good for the citizens NEAR or NEXT to a National Monument?
 - Grand Staircase Escalante, UT
 - Basin & Range, NV
 - Organ Mountain Desert Peaks, NM
 - San Gabriel Mountains, CA
 - Jackson Hole, Wyoming
 - Carter's 1978 Alaska abuse, AK
 - NOT SO MUCH!

For Immediate Release

November 5, 2015

WASHINGTON, D.C.

U.S. Congressman Paul A. Gosar, D.D.S. (AZ-04) introduced H.R. 3946, Protecting Local Communities from Executive Overreach Act, legislation which updates the 1906 Antiquities Act in order to protect property rights, water rights and jobs from presidential abuse of the Antiquities Act.
